

Spotlight: Blountstown High School

Go back to school with Kent Construction & Roofing and Dean Steel Buildings, Inc.

Blountstown High School in Calhoun County, FL, received a beautiful new facility. Kent Construction & Roofing contracted with Dean to supply over 133,000 sq. ft. of metal building frames for the project, while others provided walls and roofing for the project. The buildings are beautiful and functional - the new high school's cafeteria is the county's only state-certified hurricane shelter.

"This will be the first building that's been built in Calhoun County since '86 with the school system" says Calhoun County Superintendent Tommy McClellan. "Having a big project like this right here in Calhoun County not only has a huge impact on education, it also has an impact on the economy" says State Representative Marti Coley, who attended the original high school.
